MP calls for the government to back Tottenham Hotspur to stay on their own turf with their brand new stadium

LAMMY: PITCH IN TO KEEP SPURS

By Lucy Purdy

DAVID LAMMY MP has called on the government to step in and help Spurs redevelop their home in White Hart Lane.

Speaking at a question session for the Department For Culture, Media And Sport, the MP for Tottenham asked Hugh Robertson, Minister For Sport And The Olympics, to meet representatives from Haringey Council and Spurs' chairman Daniel Levy to discuss how plans for the site in Northumberland Park can move forward.

The club have seemed set on leaving their home in Tottenham, with council leader Claire Kober accusing Mr Levy of "deserting Tottenham" after comments he made in the national press indicating that he wants to find the club a new home just off High Road.

This is despite Spurs losing out to Premier League rivals West Ham on a bid to take over the Olympic Stadium in Stratford following the 2012 Games and despite the club getting the green light for a huge redevelopment of its current stadium.

West Ham's promise to retain the 2012 stadium's athletics track proved decisive in them getting named preferred bidders – a decision rubber-stamped by Boris Johnson last week. It has also emerged that taxpayers in Newham – one of London's poorest boroughs – would be liable for a £40million loan to help West Ham move into the Olympic stadium if the project collapsed. Newham Council used its credit rating to arrange a treasury loan on more favourable terms than the club could have secured on its own.

Mr Robertson said he would be willing to attend such a meeting in Haringey but warned that planning issues rather than sporting ones were at the centre of the club's change of heart.

Speaking afterwards, Mr Lammy said: "It is integral to the future of Tottenham that Spurs redevelop White Hart Lane into a world-class stadium. It will create thousands of jobs in the part of the capital with the highest rate of unemployment and it will be a huge economic boost to our community."

"The club is a huge source of pride in our community and we want to see them play and win against the best teams in Europe in one of the best stadiums in Europe."

"It is essential that all parties involved – the club, the local council, the mayor and the government – work together to deliver this scheme that will not only benefit Tottenham residents, but the hundreds of thousands of Tottenham fans across London and the world."

The redevelopment of White Hart Lane, known as the Northumberland Park Development, received planning permission from the council and the Mayor of London last year. The proposals included the building of a 56,000-seat stadium, a 150-bed hotel, 200 new homes, a supermarket and two public squares – and were described as crucial to the regeneration of north Tottenham which has some of the highest unemployment rates in London.

Council's regeneration centre 'fails' to deliver

By Lucy Purdy

A REGENERATION project in Tottenham billed as the "perfect environment" for companies to "expand and prosper" has been slammed by opposition politicians as a monumental waste of cash.

Liberal Democrats in Haringey say £1.5million in lost rent has resulted from Haringey Council's Technopark, a building housing offices and industrial units in Ashley Road, because large parts have remained empty over the past four years.

They believe the borough's taxpayers have lost out from Labour councillors demonstrating a "lack of financial judgment" at a time when the council is proposing cuts to services for the old, young and vulnerable in Haringey.

Lib Dem communities spokeswoman Gail Engert said: "In hard economic times the council should be doing all it can to maximise its revenue. It has clearly failed to do this and lost, in the past four years alone, income of £1.5m.

"We know that most of the Technopark has been empty since 2007 but this site opened in 1992. Even at a modest estimate this could have cost the council between £3.6m and £7.3m in lost revenue since it opened."

Lib Dem leader Robert Gorrie added: "Technopark has been an ongoing failure. While home to some businesses it has failed to help regenerate this area of Tottenham and is mostly home to parts of the council. The Labour council missed out in the last dot-com boom and now, with areas in east London attracting new technology firms, it is letting another generation down."

Space to rent: Technopark has failed to attract businesses

But the council's finance chief argued that the current economic climate was to blame for the low occupancy.

Councillor Joe Goldberg told the Advertiser: "Across the council's property portfolio, we achieve 90 per cent occupancy rates which is comparable for local councils in the area. The rental value for empty lets is about £350,000 a year for Technopark. That should be seen in the context of the local office market in Tottenham Hale which has been flat in these difficult economic times.

"But clearly in the current economic climate, it will remain challenging to find tenants and new start-ups to take up the empty lets."

In brief

Man dies after attack in wood

A MAN who was allegedly attacked in woodland in Muswell Hill has died in hospital. Victor Parsons, 67, died on February 25 at a hospital in east London. A post-mortem failed to establish the cause of his death and further tests are now being carried out. It comes as 29-year-old Ali Koc, of Lightfoot Road, Hornsey, appeared at Brent Magistrates' Court on February 5 charged with the attempted murder of Mr Parsons on January 5 as well as GBH with intent. He was remanded in custody to appear at the Old Bailey for a plea and case management hearing on May 17.

Dog assault

A MAN suffered deep bites to his arm after two men ordered their dog to attack him to steal his mobile phone. The 25-year-old victim was walking from Tottenham Hale station towards Tottenham Hale Retail Park, in Broad Lane, at about 11.10pm on February 26 when he passed two men walking a tan-coloured dog. After a chase into the retail park, the dog attacked the man. The suspects are black men, about 6ft tall. One is stocky in his early twenties with long black braided hair. The other is in his late twenties with short black hair. The dog is tan with a white belly, and looked like a pitbull.

Walkers put their best feet forward for cancer charity

By Lucy Purdy

FAMILIES are being urged to help beat breast cancer by taking part in a sponsored walk in Finsbury Park on Mother's Day.

Emma Seymour, a Cancer Research UK volunteer from Crouch End, hopes to get hundreds involved in the Beat It! sponsored walk on Sunday April 3 in a bid to raise as much cash as possible for the charity.

Families will also be able to take part in face painting and balloon modelling and enjoy a live drumming performance before opting for a 5km or 10km circuit around the park.

Emma, 25, who has been organising the event with the help of her boyfriend, 31-year-old Jon Bennett, told the Advertiser: "We wanted to organise this event on Mother's Day to let kids show just how much they love their mum."

"All of the money raised will go directly to breast cancer research and, while it's a national issue, with one in eight diagnosed with breast cancer in the course of their lives we want to make this a true community event where people can come to celebrate their mums."

"We've already had lots of interest from local primary schools and sponsorship from local businesses and we're looking to get as many people to do the walk as possible."

Beat It! will start at 11am on the day, following a warm-up led by trained instructors at 10.45am, giving those taking part the chance to work up an appetite for Sunday lunch.

It costs £6 to enter and children can register for £3 on the day.

Emma added: "No community is untouched by cancer and it is sadly very likely that it has affected the lives of many people in Haringey. I have personally seen the effect that cancer can have on a family and I am determined to be part of the solution."

Because this is a Mother's Day event, Cancer Research UK will ringfence all of the money raised for breast cancer research.

Sara stops her 20-a-day habit – and starts running for a marathon bid

A WOMAN from Crouch End who got through a pack of cigarettes every day for five years will run the London Marathon in April for a stop-smoking charity.

Sara Stoddard, 28, hopes to urge others to break the habit, too, when she takes part in the epic, 26-mile run through the streets of the capital on April 17. Pounding the tarmac beside her will be boyfriend Jason Dover, 31, who is also running on behalf of charity QUIT, which helps people trying to give up smoking.

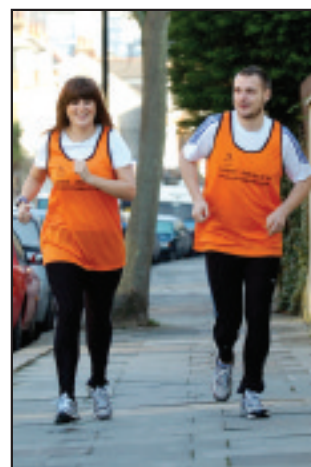

Sara, a product manager for the clothing label Hackett, told the Advertiser that she had always wanted to tackle the race.

She said: "I smoked a pack a day for about five years until I stopped for an operation because I was told I would heal more quickly if I gave up. But because I didn't really want to give up, eight weeks afterwards I started again."

Sara eventually kicked the habit about three months ago when she attended regular stop-smoking sessions with a specialist nurse at Hornsey Neighbourhood Health Centre in Park Road.

"Neither of us has really done any competitive running before," she explained.

"A couple of five-kilometre races for charity and that's it. We both see this as a personal goal and an achievement that I could not have done if I was still smoking."

On the run: Sara Stoddard and boyfriend Jason Dover

Jason added: "I wanted to do it for a personal challenge and to support Sara as I wanted her to stop smoking. My father used to be a 40-a-day man and he blamed his smoking for causing my mother's throat cancer."

"The support QUIT offers in helping people stop smoking and the improved standard of living this gives them is very important to me."

The couple are part of a seven-strong marathon team for the charity and are hoping family, friends and work colleagues will support them by sponsoring their run.

Sara said: "We have played up to the fact that we deserve the money from them even more than others because no one would expect us to enter a marathon!"

Girls' cricket team bowl them over to reach semi-finals of London Games

THE girls' team from Haringey secured an impressive bronze medal at the Balfour Beatty London Youth Games Indoor Cricket finals at Lord's on Sunday.

Both the boys' and girls' teams from the borough had booked a place at the finals weekend at the home of cricket by impressing in last month's qualifying stages of the competition.

The boys were beaten in the quarter-finals by eventual champions Harrow, but the girls recorded a superb victory over Hammersmith and Fulham to reach the last four – where they lost out to Barnet to end up with bronze medals.

Judith Pederson, team manager of both the girls' and the boys' sides, said: "Every year we have never got past the first match at Lord's."

"But when we got past the first match, they still didn't believe they could actually win. They just need to believe more because they are a very good team."

Bronze medallists: Haringey's girls' cricket team at Lord's

"They've been here for the past four years and the standard has improved immensely. All the girls are bowling properly now."

"The boys didn't do their best against Harrow, who were very good – a bit too good for us. But we will be back. They've got to improve their bowling – they can see the standard now."

The girls were presented with their medals by Beth Morgan, a member of the England women's cricket team who won both the World Cup and the World Twenty20 in 2009.

Illegally parked: The council received complaints about a number of caravans in Clyde Road

Caravans driven away by owners as council moves in to confiscate

CARAVANS which were illegally parked next to a full travellers' site in Tottenham were moved by their owners at the eleventh hour after council officers threatened to confiscate them.

Enforcement officers visited Clyde Road after a resident made a complaint in February about three caravans which had been illegally parked there. A man told them he was looking after the caravans while the owners were abroad. He was issued with a formal notice under the Highways Act 1990 and given one month to move the vehicles.

After this time the caravans had still not been moved and the officers warned that plans were afoot to confiscate them. The owners would also have been liable for the costs of removing the vehicles. When officers returned to confiscate the caravans, they had been moved.

Nilgun Canver, Haringey's cabinet member for neighbourhoods, said: "This had to be dealt with as the caravans were causing an obstruction and taking away parking space.

"It is unacceptable to park caravans like this and the person responsible was clearly warned of the consequences and saw sense and moved the caravans."

Abusive drinker banned from all Haringey pubs

A MAN has been banned from entering any pub in Haringey, Camden, Islington or Westminster after years of committing alcohol-related violence.

Arturas Mysko, 34, has been banned from all pubs, bars and restaurants where alcohol is served and from being drunk and disorderly in public in the four boroughs under the strict rules of his anti-social behaviour order.

The Asbo was granted on February 24 by Highbury Magistrates' Court against Mysko, of no fixed abode, after the court heard evidence pointing to years of alcohol-related violence, drunkenness and verbal abuse.

Police officers had also received numerous complaints from residents and licensees about Mysko's intimidating behaviour.

Mysko breached a number of conditions in an earlier interim Asbo granted in September last year, including getting thrown out of licensed premises for being drunk, breaking the window of a pub, abusing hospital staff who were trying to treat his injuries and shouting abusively and spitting at police, hotel and bar staff.

The court also heard that Mysko used his belt as a weapon during a fight and told staff at a bus garage that the sleeping bag he had left on a bus contained a bomb.

Detective Superintendent Adrian Usher said: "We do not tolerate alcohol-related violence and problems in our communities, and we will seek to ban abusive drinkers from licensed premises.

Asbo: Arturas Mysko given pub ban

"Our officers take a long-term view of tackling disorder and Asbos are an effective tool available to us. We will continue to take action against the minority of persistent offenders who cause a disproportionate amount of crime, disorder and fear to residents."

Campaigners of hit Whittington demo call for a united crusade

By Lucy Purdy

HEALTH campaigners who orchestrated an acclaimed mass demonstration against the threatened closure of emergency services at The Whittington Hospital have vowed to continue their struggle to protect NHS services – one year on.

The 5,000-strong demonstration against proposals to close the A&E department at the hospital in Highgate Hill, Archway, which took place on February 27 last year, was declared a huge success and used as a blueprint for other campaigns in the UK. Shirley Franklin played a pivotal role that day as chairwoman of the Defend The Whittington Hospital Coalition, helping mobilise residents, trade unionists and politicians from all the main parties in a march up Holloway Road.

She told the Advertiser residents now face “much more serious threats” to the NHS through legislation being introduced by the government and cuts to health services must be opposed wherever they emerge. She said: “We won round one – big time. Now we’re trying to raise the alert about attacks to the NHS and privatisation. We tried to raise consciousness about this as soon as the coalition government came in and it is only now people seem to be getting more active.”

“Our campaign was a united one and that was crucial in making our voices heard. Everybody has such a love and affection for the hospital – saving the A&E was a tangible thing people could relate to.”

“People have looked at that campaign as a model, which is fantastic – but things are so much bigger than they were. It must be seen as just a microcosm of what it could be. People need to clock what is going on.”

Bosses of the six sectors which make up NHS London are now steeling themselves for the transition to GP commissioning – the new way of organising the health service, as outlined by the government’s NHS

White Paper. It has been heralded by ministers as a means to “liberate the NHS” by placing power and budgets into the hands of trusted GPs rather than faceless bureaucrats. But critics insist the proposals will lead to the long-term destruction of the NHS by putting commercial interests in the driving seat.

The Whittington Hospital will be rebranded Whittington Health from April 1, following a decision made in December to merge with Islington and Haringey community health services. Whittington chief executive Rob Larkman quit the hospital in a surprise move earlier this year to take up a “senior role within NHS London”. Just weeks before, he wrote in his Larkman’s Line section of the hospital’s internal newsletter: “I look forward to working with you all in 2011.”

“I want to see united campaign across north London.”

Ms Franklin said she was worried about what the move meant for the Whittington’s future and promised the DWHC group would be “keeping a close eye” on the hospital.

“Alongside these cuts are despicable cuts to our mental health service – done on the quiet and against the most vulnerable,” she explained. “We can’t sit back and let these happen.”

“I want to see a united campaign across north London and even wider afield. It was our united activity that saved the A&E and this time around the challenge is all the harder.”

In neighbouring Enfield, MPs and other senior politicians will meet with health minister Andrew Lansley tomorrow to urge him to assure the future of Chase Farm Hospital.

Representatives from DTWHC will take part in a mass march in central London on March 26.

It's a family affair at The Gatehouse

FAMILIES are important Upstairs At The Gatehouse.

Husband and wife team John and Katie Plews run the Highgate institution while their oldest daughter Racky is producing her debut play at the venue, based around an American family, which opens tonight.

"I call us the Von Trapps of Highgate," said Racky, laughing. "My sister is also involved in the company but she's away at the moment as part of the Thriller! tour. I am very excited about Buried Child because, besides being my debut play, it's the first time it will have been performed on the fringe."

Winner of the Pulitzer Prize for Drama in 1979, Sam Shepard's twisted family drama is a favourite of drama students and was last seen at the National Theatre in 2004. Dark and disturbing, it still manages to elicit its fair share of laughs.

"The three words which I keep using to describe it are: thrills, chills and comedy!" said Racky. "I read it and I was laughing out loud, but then my mum read it and she said, 'It's not funny!'

Disturbing: Buried Child tells a dark tale set in an American family

But everyone can relate to it as it's about families and there's this brilliant old guy, who is very recognisable, who keeps making the effort to grumble! We have a loyal audience Upstairs and, with this,

we hope to build on that following."

● Buried Child is performed by resident company Ovation until April 3. For ticket details and times call the box office on 020 8340 3488.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers

Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. DEFOE IS READY FOR MILAN TEST

By Dominique Stafford

JERMAIN DEFOE is hoping to score his 100th goal for Tottenham Hotspur tonight to help them overcome AC Milan and book their place in the last eight of the Champions League.

Spurs welcome the Italian giants to White Hart Lane holding a 1-0 lead from the first leg of their last 16 tie, and will start as hot favourites to progress to the quarter-finals of the competition.

And Defoe, who finally broke his Premier League duck for the season by scoring twice in Sunday's thrilling 3-3 draw at Wolves to take his tally for the club up to 99, has set his sights on finding the target again in tonight's showpiece encounter.

"If I score my 100th goal for Tottenham on Wednesday there will be a reason why," he said. "It would be nice."

"It had been a long while since I scored my last Premier League goal, and more than anything else it has been frustrating."

"As a forward, when you are scoring goals you are full of confidence and buzzing about. When you are not scoring your game changes, you start snatching at things or take an extra touch because you want to be so precise."

"I've always tried to get in the right positions to score, and I'll never stop doing that. It was good to get the two at Wolves."

Peter Crouch's goal in the San Siro has given Spurs a clear advantage heading into tonight's match, but even though they have won all their home matches in the competition this season Defoe is expecting a tough test.

He said: "I think that they will come and sit back and try to frustrate us a little and make it difficult. In games like that you have to be very professional."

"Champions League games are a bit slower than Premier League games. You get a slow build-up and you have to keep possession, not get sloppy and not switch off, because if you do that just once they will punish you with the players they have got."

"It's important not to switch off and to focus all the time. If we do that, hopefully we will win."

Century aim: Jermain Defoe hopes to score his 100th goal for Spurs

Skolars enjoy a crushing win in Challenge Cup

JOE MBU enjoyed his first victory as head coach of the London Skolars on Saturday as they crushed Egremont Rangers 60-24 at New River Stadium in the third round of the Carnegie Challenge Cup.

The Skolars ran in 11 tries in total on their way to securing their record win in the competition, and Mbu – who took charge at the end of last season – was delighted with the efforts of his players.

He said: "We knew it would be tight early on, but we held our game plan and controlled the ball well."

Cumbrian amateur side Egremont put up a determined effort in the first half, but wilted after the interval as they conceded a succession of penalties.

The Skolars took full advantage, and at one stage the visitors went nine minutes without touching the ball other than from kick-offs – then dropping the first pass when they did regain possession.

Gareth Honor (two), Oliver Bloom (two), Tony Williams, Jy-Mel Coleman, Jason Cook, Ade Adebisi, Dave McMeeken, Olu Iwenofu and Stephen Ball all crossed the line for the rampant hosts, with Neil Thorman and Liam Prescott both kicking four goals.

The draw for the fourth round takes place on March 20, while Sunday sees the London Skolars launching their league campaign as they make the trip to Keighley Cougars in Co-Operative Championship One.
